Town Forced Into New Water Deal By Unpromising Flow

Revised Well Contract Decided On At Special Council Meeting After Disappointing Test Made

The contract of the International Water Supply Co. with the town to sink a deep well at Cotter St. was amended by the town council at a special meeting on Monday night.

J. B. MacNamama, engineer of the company, told the council that he was not satisfied that the well would produce a minimum flow of 150 gallons a minute as guaranteed in the contract, and asked the council to delete the clause providing for a guaranteed minimum.

After several hours discussion, the town council agreed to delete the clause and, with the consent of Mr. MacNamama, changed the contract price as follows: The town will pay $88 per gallon for each gallon per minute up to 125 gallons, $50 per gallon for the next 25 gallons per minute, and $20 per additional gallon. Approval of this change was unanimous.

The original contract guaranteed a minimum of 150 gallons per minute from the Cotter St. well for a price of $13,200. The town agreed to pay $20 per gallon for each additional gallon per minute up to a maximum cost of $17,200.

"We thought we had the water question settled at least for a time," said Councillor A. D. Evans, chairman of the water and light committee. "However, it is a question of whether we can get 200 gallons per minute from this well. The company has suggested that we change the contract."

Mr. MacNamama gave an account of the work done at the well and said that after pumping a test-hole on April 9 he "concluded that the well capacity was between 100 and 150 gallons a minute." He said that he was willing to go ahead with the well if the council would strike out the clause guaranteeing a minimum flow of 150 gallons, and would agree to pay $88 per gallon for whatever flow, up to 150 gallons, obtained. Anything over 150 gallons would be paid for as stated in the contract.

"It is reasonable to assume that we will get from 75 to 150 gallons a minute," Mr. MacNamama declared. "If we get 150 gallons or more, you pay as originally agreed. If, for example, you get 100 gallons, you pay us $8,800."

"You don't think there is 150 gallons a minute there?" he was asked.

"It's hazardous."

"We've got to face the problem that we need water," Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale declared. "Mr. MacNamama is willing to guarantee you all the water there at $88 per gallon."

Councillor Evans said that he was in favor of accepting the proposal. He said that the town was placed in the position that its consumption of water is daily increasing and that it is obliged to explore every possible way of getting water.

"We've got to take the chances, they don't have to," he declared. "This well, if it's put in, will take every gallon that's possible in that area. The people are more satisfied in getting the best water, and Cotter St. has the best water, in a safe place."

"If we had any kind of assurance that we could get 150 gallons per minute, I think it would be a good thing," said Councillor J. L. Spillette. "We would be in an unholy position if we only got 70 gallons per minute and had to pay $88 a gallon for it. We might as well get out of town."

However, Mr. MacNamama said that he felt sure he could get a good flow of water, but didn't want to take the position of guaranteeing a 150-gallon minimum.

"If it's only going to pump 100 gallons per minute, then I shouldn't be here tonight," he declared.

"Is there anybody sure of water in this town?" asked Councillor Evans. "We need water, we need 300,000 gallons a day. If we get 100 gallons from this well we are as well off as if we had another Srigley St. well. We should keep trying for this water."

C. C. Rachar, town engineer, said that he didn't think development of the Cotter St. well presented any danger to the flow from wells at the water-works, since they are in different strata.

Mr. Evans said that the town doesn't "expect to stop at Cotter St. Cotter St. isn't a cure. We should aim for 500,000 gallons a day."

"Our consumption has increased alarmingly," said Deputy-Reeve Vale. "We must go after water. We may have to get it in a hurry.

"We should see if we can't get water at Cotter St. and then come back here and argue about the next place," he declared. "We are almost forced into the position that we've got to develop this well."

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales said that it was his opinion the town should test for water at the western limits of the town, before committing itself to an amended Cotter St. contract. The Bowser property on Yonge St. was an ideal place to drill, he stated. He added that Mr. Bowser was willing to allow the town to drill there.

Councillor Frank Bowser asked the council to delay decision on the matter until the Bowser property could be tested for water.

However, Deputy-Reeve Vale said that it would cost from $20,000 to $30,000 to get water from the Bowser property into the mains, exclusive of the cost of constructing a well, whereas there would be no such cost at Cotter St., which is near the water mains.

The council finally came to an agreement with Mr. MacNamama on an amended contract.

THREE COUNCIL SEATS MAY BE FILLED MAY 5

DEATH OF DEPUTY-REEVE CAUSES WHITCHURCH SHAKE-UP

REEVE TOOLE ACTS

There will be a special meeting of Whitchurch township council on Monday, when Reeve Earl Toole will arrange for nominations on Monday, April 28, and an election, if necessary, on Monday, May 5.

The nominations are occasioned by the death of Deputy-Reeve Jess Cook on March 22. The council meeting on Monday is to give members of the council a chance to resign and offer their services for the office of deputy-reeve.

If one or more members of the council resign, and two have announced their intention of doing so, to run for deputy-reeve, Reeve Toole will sign another warrant, arranging to fill the additional council vacancy or vacancies at the same time.

Thus if members of the council resign to run for the deputy-reeveship and are unsuccessful they will not have a chance to return to their present seats.

Reeve Toole told The Era on Tuesday that he had consulted the department of municipal affairs at Queen's Park and was advised that he had no alternative but to call an election.

Reeve Toole was expected to require Clerk John Crawford to call an election, but did not do so, at the regular April meeting of the council at Vandorf on Saturday.

Councillor Herman Kidd contended that there was no hurry, that roads were too bad for taking a vote and that it would show more respect for the late deputy to wait. A quite different view was taken by Councillor George Leary, who reminded the reeve that the act called for an election "forthwith."

"I am willing to delay issuing this warrant," said Reeve Toole, "only if our county solicitor and the department of municipal affairs consent. They will be consulted early next week. If I find the proper course is to proceed with issuing my warrant, this course will be followed."

In this event he said he would summon a special meeting for receiving resignations of any councillor or councillors wishing to contest the deputy-reeveship.

Councillors Leary and Kidd let it be known in certain terms that they would be in the field.

Capital Cleaners now occupy the premises recently vacated by Donald Fines, jeweler, at 13 Main St. Mr. Fines has moved to 15 Main St., former location of Budd Studio.

The Newmarket Citizens' band will give a concert at the military camp tonight.

CHURCHILL SAYINGS ARE DIXON THEME

The Dixon Pencil Co. has recently begun the manufacture of pencils that serve patriotic as well as the usual purposes, The Era was told this week by James Law, general manager.

These pencils have the head of Winston Churchill imprinted on them and each pencil has inscribed on it Churchillian sayings that have been praised the world over: "Give us the tools, and we will finish the job," "Never was so much owed by so many to so few," "We shall not flag or fail, we shall go on to the end."

M.O.H. Urges Toxoiding To Protect Children's Health

TOXOIDING IS WIPING OUT DIPHTHERIA, DR. WESLEY SAYS

"Diphtheria toxoiding means wiping out the most dreaded of all infantile diseases," Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., stated this week.

"We have had several toxoid clinics at the Newmarket schools, the last of which was held last summer, and 141 children were immunized against diphtheria. As we have not had a case of real diphtheria in town during the last 20 years, we feel that another clinic is not necessary at the present time, but parents are still advised to have their children toxoided.

"Protect all your pre-school children by having them immunized against diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and smallpox before starting to school. This will result in a great improvement of their health later and will add much to the regularity of their school program.

"The Health League of Canada is putting on what is called 'Toxoid Week,' April 20 to 26. This is a toxoid drive."

SUGGESTS $1,000 REWARD

The town might profitably offer a $1,000 reward to a well-driller who would locate a good water supply where another producing well could be sunk, Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales suggested to the town council on Monday evening.

NEWLYWEDS ARE GIVEN SHOWER

On Wednesday evening about 45 members and friends of the Newmarket Free Methodist church assembled at the home of Rev. and Mrs. B. Babcook in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Snyder. The bride was the former Miss Carrie Babcook.

After a rousing charivari and amid showers of confetti, a beautifully decorated wagon was brought in bearing a large basket of lovely and useful gifts to the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder spoke suitable words of appreciation in reply.

During the evening a delightful lunch was served by the ladies of the congregation. The party broke up about midnight with a shower of best wishes to the bride and groom, who return on Saturday to their new home at Harrowsmith.

Miss Helen Marwood has accepted a position in Toronto.

MRS. ARTHUR KNIGHTS DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Arthur Knights of Queensville died quite suddenly at her residence last Saturday in her 77th year. Interment was in Queensville cemetery on Monday.

The service was conducted by A. McAsh, pastor of the Maple Hill Regular Baptist church, assisted by Rev. W. Whitcombe of Toronto.

Mrs. Knights' husband predeceased her five years ago, as did her youngest son, Osborn, who died 29 years ago. Mrs. Stewart Wight (Nellie), her eldest daughter, died last November. Left to mourn her loss are the remaining family of eight, Mrs. Wm. McGill (Kathleen), Robert, Harry and Fred, all of Queensville, Mrs. Wm. King and Frank Knights of Keswick, Jack Knights of Ottawa, and Mrs. John Marritt (Doris) of Newmarket, also 26 grandchildren, five sisters, Mrs. O. Smith of Scarboro, Miss C. White, Mrs. Jewel and Mrs. Steepe of Toronto, and Mrs. H. Gillett, and a brother, Robt. White, of Orillia.

Mrs. Knights was born in London, Eng., and was married there nearly 53 years ago to Arthur Knights, who was in business as a florist. Thirty-four years ago they came to Canada, bringing all their family, first settling at north Toronto. They moved to Queensville 30 years ago, when they bought the farm known as the Weddell farm.

Mrs. Knights was well known in the district, and to know her was to love her. She was the Bible class teacher at Ravenshoe for 18 years. Then, when the Maple Hill church was opened, in which both Mr. and Mrs. Knights were instrumental, having been Baptists all their lives, Mrs. Knights taught the Bible class there until recently, when failing health forced her to give it up. She was never known to miss a church service when health permitted. She will be greatly missed in the church.

The pallbearers were five sons, Robert, Harry, Jack, Frank and Fred, and a son-in-law, William McGill.

The beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which she was held by the community.

SAYS FARMERS BENEFIT FROM MILK INCREASE

TORONTO MILK CONSUMPTION HAS INCREASED, SAYS SECRETARY

MEANS "MILLIONS"

Editor, The Era: The extremely high standard of your paper makes one hesitate in offering a correction of a statement appearing on the first page of your issue of April 10, headed "Milk Prices Go Up." The correction is in reference to the consumption of milk in Toronto.

The price advanced in Toronto on Jan. 23. During January, the consumption increased over last January, about 3½%. During February, the consumption was 6% below February of last year, which was abnormally higher, so that the consumption figure of 1941 was 7% above 1939. You will recall that last year was leap year. Worked out on the 28-day month, the consumption of milk in February of this year is approximately 3% above February of last year.

From the farmer's point of view, the increase in the price netted the producer more than $58,000 in Februray, although they shipped nearly 1,000,000 lbs. less milk. If February this year had been the same length as February last year, the producers shipping to Toronto would have received over $85,000 more, or approximately $25 per farm, and this they will continue to receive monthly, while the price continues.

We pass this information on in the interest of truth. The figures are based on the monthly dairy report of the Ontario department of agriculture, statistics branch. This general increase in the province of Ontario will net the milk producers millions of extra dollars a year.

Yours sincerely,
W. H. Wilmot, secretary,
Toronto Milk Producers Association.
Toronto, Ontario,
April 16, 1941.

NEWMARKET MAN, 78, RECALLS DUFFERIN

Most of his life a resident of Newmarket, John J. McDonald, who left Newmarket a little over a year ago to live in Cannington, has now moved to Lindsay.

He is making his home with a daughter, Mrs. Alex. Scott, Lindsay. Mr. McDonald was in Newmarket last week, visiting his daughter, Mrs. Violet Glen. Mrs. Orville Heath, Aurora, is another daughter. A son, John B. McDonald, was killed overseas during the last war.

While in Newmarket, Mr. McDonald told The Era that he came to Newmarket when he was four years old, and went to the district school, where Alexander Muir school now stands, when he was five, as well as he could remember.

"The first month I attended the fee was 30 cents," he said. "The second month it was 15 cents. Then it became a free school."

Mr. McDonald was 78 on Wednesday. He recalled the laying of the cornerstone of the Christian Congregational church by the Earl of Dufferin.

"I was 11 years old," he said. "Tom Watson, Fred Hartry, Bob Manning and I are the only ones left now who would remember that occasion."

NEW WALK LAID

A new cement walk now replaces the old board sidewalk from Main St. to the side entrance to Trinity United church. The new walk was completed this week.

MOVES TO NEW HOME

Mrs. Rena Hamilton moved from her former apartment at the home of Mrs. R. Groves, corner of Niagara St. and Millard Ave., yesterday, to an apartment across the road in the house of Mrs. J. Nelson.

Use Sense, Is Reeve's Advice To Motorists

Motorists should "use sense" in making use of the roads these days, Reeve F. A. Lundy advised this week.

"A lot of driving is for no purpose at all, and is breaking up the streets and costing the taxpayers a lot of money," he said.

While Main St., which is badly broken, is a county highway, other streets, including Wellington, are in bad condition and should not be used more than absolutely necessary, he said.

Over $10,000 So Far Reported For War Services Campaign

Chairman Confidently Expects To Make $18,000 Objective, Canvassing Not Completed Yet

Newmarket's auxiliary war services fund had reached $4,587 at noon today, with more to come, F. H. Hewson, chairman, told The Era.

"We appreciate the co-operation of canvassers and citizens," he said. "It has been marvellous. Many people were out when our canvassers called. We are keeping the list open, if people will send their contributions to me."

Northern York county is doing a grand job for the auxiliary war services campaign, and will make the objective of $18,000, H. E. Lambert, Newmarket, chairman, expects.

Returns already made total $10,376.06. A number of centres have not reported yet, and quite a few rural areas have not been contacted at all because of road conditions and lack of time to organize.

Persons who have not been canvassed are asked to make their contributions direct to Mr. Lambert or their nearest district chairman, so that they may have a share in providing comforts for the boys in khaki.

Newmarket has gone slightly past its objective of $4,500. Aurora has reported the substantial sum of $1,905.12.

Returns to date are: Aurora, $1,905.12; Holland Landing and Yonge St., $367.10; Newmarket, $4,509; Pefferlaw and Georgina, $391.79; Mount Albert, $307.70; Richmond Hill, $951.35; Schomberg, $110.75; Sharon and Queensville, $302; Stouffville, $1,182.50; Sutton, $348.75.

Markham, Unionville, Woodbridge, Richvale and Keswick have not made returns as yet, Mr. Lambert said.

MILK EXPECTED TO REGAIN ITS STRIDE

Sales of milk in Newmarket have decreased because of the increase in prices which were effected last week, but dairymen believe that they will soon be back to normal or nearly normal.

F. R. Maybee, proprietor of Cousins Dairy, when contacted by The Era yesterday, said that his sales, with a few exceptions, were "back to normal." He estimated that sales dropped about ten per cent "the first day," but said that they took an upswing after that.

Other dairies report that the increase in price has not greatly affected sales to houses in town. W. J. McCappin, proprietor of Hillsdale Dairy, said that, because of the nutritive value of milk, the housewife will probably revise her budget to include a proper amount of milk each day, and cut down on foods of less value.

Newmarket Dairy said that they could not accurately gauge the effect of the milk increase until unused milk tickets bought previous to the rise are returned.

SCOUTS, CUBS START ON "SCAVENGER HUNT"

Newmarket Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs will shortly call at each house in town to arrange for the collection of waste materials required for war purposes.

The following materials are listed as being urgently required for war purposes:

Paper and cardboard: consisting of newspapers, magazines, cardboard, corrugated boxes and mixed papers of all kinds. The different kinds of paper should be kept separate as much as possible.

Rags and fibres: every kind of rags and fibrous materials including cotton, woollen and linen rags, old sacks, carpets, rope, string, etc.

Rubber: old tires, tubes and scrap rubber in any form.

Metals: all kinds of scrap metal, such as cast-iron, steel, aluminum, copper, lead, but not including tin cans, stove pipes and enamelled ware.

The Scouts ask the people of Newmarket to save the waste articles listed above and they will arrange to collect them.

DANCE NETS $100 FOR WAR WORK

A large crowd attended the Easter Red Cross dance held in the high school auditorium last evening. About $100 was made and will be used for Red Cross purposes. Max Boag and his orchestra supplied the rhythm for the evening.

The prize for the gypsy dance, which was donated by Lindenbaum Outfitters, was won by Miss Lillian Daniel. Mrs. C. E. VanderVoort won the prize for the mysterious ladies' dance, which was donated by Bell's drug store, and the mysterious gentlemen's dance was won by Arthur Evans of Sharon. The prize was donated by H. E. Gilroy.

Cut flowers and mauve and yellow candlesticks were the only decorations used, but were very effective.

After the dance, Alex. Eves auctioned off the flowers and a nice sum was realized.

PASTOR HAS RECOVERED

Dr. W. D. Muckle, pastor of St. John's church, is well again after his recent serious illness.

Rev. A. J. Patstone will be in charge of the service, with ministers of other denominations taking part.

There will be a collection for the British War Victims' Fund.

STRAND OFFERS HELP FOR PATRIOTIC CAUSE

An invitation to make use of the Strand theatre to help the Newmarket, England, Spitfire fund was appreciatively received and referred to the executive, at the Lions club Monday evening.

The town council had made a gift of $25 to the fund, said Reeve Fred A. Lundy in expressing appreciation of the offer from the Strand theatre.

"I want to congratulate the town council on taking the initiative," said J. O. Little, in seconding Mr. Lundy's motion referring the matter to the executive. "If I had been on the council, I would have asked that it be $2,000. We are proud of the name, 'Newmarket.' I would suggest that we set an objective of $2,000 or $3,000."

Sergeant Chris. Gardner of the Newmarket training camp gave the club a marvellous display of magic. He said that at any time during his stay in Newmarket he would be glad to give his services free for any patriotic cause.

President J. S. Law was in the chair.

A pretty wedding was solemnized last Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Frank Newton, 21 Millard Ave., Newmarket, when Rosina Olive Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Newton of King township, became the bride of Cecil William Alfred Gibson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gibson of Stratford.

Rev. Arthur Greer performed the wedding.

The bride was lovely, gowned in a blue crepe dress with rose accessories, and carrying a bouquet of Briarcliff roses. She was attended by Miss Viona Scott, who wore a pink chiffon dress with black and white accessories, and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Mr. Reginald Willis was best man.

About 25 guests attended the reception, the bride's mother receiving with the bridal couple gowned in a rose crepe dress with matching accessories, and wearing a corsage of carnations.

QUEENSVILLE RESIDENT RECEIVES LETTER FROM LADY WHO HAS BANDED 30,000 BIRDS

By Queensville Correspondent

Recently we wrote of Maurice Huntley catching a Starling with a band, which J. B. Aylward sent to Ottawa, and found out that it had been banded by a lady in Nashville, Tennessee, in 1936.

Last week some interesting information arrived from the bander, Mrs. F. C. Laskey, a councillor of the Island Bird Banding Association, residing at Blossomdell, Graybar Lane, Nashville, Tenn.

The association presents this information: "Three million wild birds wear bands. By means of numbered aluminum bands on the legs of our native birds, an important investigation is being carried on by our government, with the aid of volunteer co-operators. The purpose is to learn how long birds live, routes they travel in migration, miles travelled in a day, if they return to the same locality, do they keep the same mates, and many other interesting questions.

"If you handle any game bird or find any other kind of bird, dead or alive, examine its legs for a band and read the number very carefully. If the bird is alive, leave the band on and release the bird, but if the bird is dead, remove the band and send the band and all information possible in either case to the National Parks Bureau, Ottawa, Ontario, if found in Canada, or if found in U. S. A. to the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C."

J. B. Aylward received a very interesting letter from Mrs. Laskey last week.

It reads: It was of great interest to me to hear from you about the Starling. You did not say just when it was found dead but I presume it was in January or February, 1941. It was banded at my home as your notice stated on January 31, 1936, as a bird of the year—that is, one hatched in 1935.

As a hobby I am doing research work on bird life and under federal permit set traps that do not harm the birds and catch them for banding. I have been doing this for ten years and during that time, with the help of others, have placed my bands on over 30,000 birds of 116 different species. I have acquired some very interesting data of considerable scientific value. The birds are fed all through the year in our garden and my traps are baited with various kinds of food. In addition, I band many nestlings just before they can fly well enough to leave the nest.

My map does not show Queensville, so I was unable to find out how far it is from Nashville, Tenn. There is a great difference in prevailing weather, for although our trees are still not in leaf, the maples, elms, poplars, etc., are in bloom, daffodils and many other early spring blossoms have been in bloom two weeks.

Our spring birds are slow in arriving but are now appearing. Bluebirds have been incubating eggs for a week in a nest box project I have been following for several years.

We have had very little snow this year—none until February—but the unusual cold and snow of January, 1940, took heavy toll of bird life in the south as far as Florida and Louisiana.

Strand Theatre Will Be Air-Conditioned

The Strand theatre is going to put its best foot forward with the approach of warmer weather. The theatre is to be greatly improved with the installation of a new air-conditioning system and a new screen.

A contract has been let to Alco Air Conditioning Engineers, Toronto, for installation of a new conditioning system in the Strand theatre. Work will commence immediately. The tile room to hold the equipment will be constructed in the basement by local masons.

An order has been placed for a new screen (Walker silversheet). This new screen is said to give 60 per cent better light reflection, and delivers the brightest picture without glare.

MORE MILK SHOULD BE USED

There will be increasing demands on the purses of Canadians, and increasing tugs on their heart-strings, as the war continues in Europe. We must give as generously as we can. At the same time we must not forget or neglect our own folks at home who need food, clothing and shelter. In a rural community recently, as related by Andy Clark on Sunday morning, a home was destroyed by fire and neighbors put the family into a rent-paid apartment, remarking that "you alone among us have undergone an experience similar to that of the bombed-out people of England." In spite of the improved incomes of many persons, there are still with us many who are not properly fed and clothed. In the cities there are professional workers, supported by strong organizations, who try to take care of the less fortunate. In Newmarket we are largely dependent on good neighbors, church organizations, and the Lions club to see that there is no privation. These organizations still need money for local work.

Permanent physical injury done to a child through lack of milk and fresh fruit and vegetables is just as unfortunate as permanent injury to a child caused by a piece of flying shrapnel. It is more difficult, however, to realize the injury to the child who suffers from malnutrition than the injury to the child struck by shrapnel.

Newmarket people may take a certain amount of pride in work accomplished in Barrie by the Barrie Lions club, as that club is a child of the Newmarket club. During 16 weeks of the past winter the Lions club was responsible for the distribution to Barrie school children of 27,390 bottles of milk, or 1,700 gallons. Nearly half of this milk went free of charge to children selected by the school nurse. The rest of it was paid for by other more fortunate pupils. In other words, the Barrie club spent over $300 for milk for its less fortunate children in four months. There is a wonderful investment!

It is difficult to realize how much food value there is in milk, and too often people are tempted to spend their money on bulkier, less nutritive foods, or even on motoring that they can't afford rather than to give their children all they can drink of nature's best food. Too few people take seriously our doctors and health experts when they tell us that a child needs a quart of milk a day. That's why we need Lions clubs composed of men who are prepared to "waste" $300 on milk for undernourished school children. The service club gives the milk to the less fortunate, and at the same time does the more fortunate a good turn too, for they demand of their parents money to buy what the others are getting free.

It will be unfortunate if Newmarket people reduce their purchases of milk, and the health of Newmarket children, because of the milk price increase of one cent a quart. For better health we should be increasing our consumption of milk, not decreasing it, and fortunately we could greatly increase the production of milk without interfering in any way with the "war effort."

ALL THINK THE SAME

Once we heard it said that according to Einstein's theory of relativity a body in motion is longer than the same body at rest. J. R. Hale of the Orillia Packet and Times has apparently discovered this interesting fact independently, and cites in support of his contention a similar feeling on the part of a distinguished summer resident of Orillia (writing in 1914). Mr. Hale: "How different a steamboat looks in winter, from her appearance in summer! To me—barring such impressive steamers as the Sagamo, Cherokee, etc.—the average steamboat seems, when seen frozen in the ice, or up on drydock to be so much smaller than when seen plying the sparkling waters in the good old summer time. I feel like Doctor Leacock did when he referred to Mariposa's little excursion steamer, the Mariposa Belle, as follows: 'The Mariposa Belle always seems to me to have some of those strange properties that distinguish Mariposa itself. I mean her size seems to vary so. If you see her there in the winter, frozen in the ice beside the wharf with a snowdrift against the windows of the pilot house, she looks a pathetic little thing the size of a butternut. But in the summer time, especially after you've been in Mariposa for a month or two, and have paddled alongside of her in a canoe, she gets larger and taller, with a great sweep of black sides, till you see no difference between the Mariposa Belle and the Lusitania. Each one is a big steamer, and that's all you can say.'"

SELLING HISTORY

York county is rich in history. Our northern neighbor, Simcoe county, is similarly endowed. Two movements have been on foot in Simcoe county to take note of that history. One is the restoration of Fort Ste. Marie, at an estimated cost of $15,000. The other, sponsored by a Toronto group, is to hold a Brebeuf pageant, at an estimated cost of $40,000. Both events are to take place in 1942, it is hoped, and both events would attract many tourists to Canada. The plan is to seat 3,000 people twice a day for a week to see the pageant. It has now been decided to amalgamate the two organizations.

GIVE HIM HIS DUE

The Midland Free Press, which has been helping the people of its constituency fight increased beer distribution, still believes in being fair to the enemy: "This newspaper has been strongly critical of the liquor control board of Ontario for the way it has forced beverage rooms on communities which did not want them. The news that seven Windsor hotels have been refused renewal of licenses because they have been convicted of law violations consequently earns commendation."

VICTOR HUGO ON THE FUTURE LIFE

Man's immortality was debated in many of our pulpits on Easter day. In a printed message to the people of Trinity United church, Newmarket, Rev. Dr. A. E. Runnells quoted the great author of "Les Miserables" as follows: "I feel immortality in myself. I am rising I know towards the sky. The earth gives me its generous sap, but heaven lights me with the reflection of unknown worlds. You say the soul is nothing but the resultant of bodily powers. Why, then, is the soul more luminous as the bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is in my head but eternal spring is in my heart. There I breathe at this hour as I did at the age of twenty. the fragrance of lilacs and violets and roses. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies of worlds to come. It is marvellous, yet simple. It is a fairy tale yet a fact. For half a century I have been writing my thoughts in prose and verse; history, philosophy, drama, romance, tradition, satire, ode, song—I have tried all. But I feel that I have not said a thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave I shall have ended my day's work. But another day wil begin next morning. Life closes in the twilight; it opens with the dawn."

THE CHICKADEES DISCUSS THE HOUSING PROBLEM

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"I really believe I've had just a touch too much sun," Merry Chickadee confided to Young Chips. "I've been here in the branches of this bare tree all afternoon and that sun feels as hot as it does in July."

"The spring is certainly catching up with itself very fast these days," replied her mate. "I wouldn't have believed it possible ten days ago that the buds could be coming out so fast. Why, at this rate, the leaves will be on the trees in no time."

"I guess we'd better not delay choosing a home any longer," said Merry. "I hate to settle down, though, it's been so nice these last few days just enjoying the sunshine and listening to all our friends singing."

"We should be all settled in our nest in another ten days," said Young Chips. "And you always take such a time to make up your mind whether you like a place or not, my dear, that I declare it's just as much trouble as if we had to make a whole big nest ourselves, like the Robins do."

"We go to plenty of trouble making our nest, and don't you suggest otherwise," said Merry indignantly. "Just because we use an old, deserted Woodpecker's hole doesn't mean that we don't line it very carefully inside with moss and grasses and feathers, the very choicest we can find. And I'm particular, too. I wouldn't let my babies sleep on those wood shavings the way the Woodpeckers do. They're just too lazy to gather nice soft material, I guess."

"My love, that's ridiculous," remonstrated Young Chips. "After all, they go to all the trouble of chiselling out a hole for their nests, and that's more than we do. We make use of their old holes, so you might say that we were lazy."

"There's something in that," Merry admitted reluctantly. "But, of course, no one would expect a Chickadee to be able to drill a hole in a tree-trunk, now would they?"

"Of course not, my dear, but let's not get into an argument," he answered. "I dislike arguing with you very much. Just listen to those Gulls away up there so high in the blue sky! They have been enjoying themselves lately, soaring away up high and making quite a lot of noise too. It's a pity they aren't more musical."

"What's that rattling sound I hear over by the bridge?" Merry inquired, with her head on one side. "It's someone I know well, I'm sure."

"Yes, it's a Kingfisher," stated Young Chips. "I expect he's been back several days and we just haven't heard him before this. Shall we saunter over and see him?"

"Yes, let's," agreed Merry, and the two Chickadees flew in their quick, swooping and dipping style over to a big tree overhanging a stream.

"There he is," Young Chips said immediately. "He is quite the king of the castle, perched up there on the tip of a branch so majestically. But when he starts that rattling and chattering talk of his he isn't quite so dignified."

"Oh, I think every bird with a crest has dignity at all times," disagreed Merry. "Look at the Jays and the Waxwings and the Cardinals and the Great-crested Flycatchers! Even the suggestion of a crest which the Phoebes have is a help. A crest gives a bird a certain air. I'd give anything to have one!" she sighed.

"Nonsense, my pet," Young Chips said sharply. "You're shiny little black skullcap is much prettier and suits you far better than a crest would."

"I can't agree," argued Merry. "Why, our very own first cousins, the little grey and whitish Tufted Titmice, have lovely little crests."

"Well, you needn't be jealous of them as long as you live in Newmarket," replied Young Chips. "Because they are never seen here at all and, in fact, have scarcely ever even appeared in Canada. Their northern boundaries are the southern borders of Canada."

"Yes, I think it's high time we started nest-building," Young Chips said firmly. "We'll go right now and see what houses are vacant."

The Common Round

THE COMMON CAUSE

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Have you ever thought of the strange conglomerate of peoples, languages, religions and education, which fight with Britain in the common cause of freedom?

There is every branch of the Christian church — save those sects whose religious convictions forbid them to fight—represented in that army.

In times, happily long past, many of those branches fought each other, not realizing then, as they do now, that religion is a personal thing—of the spirit—and as such must make its own decisions for time and eternity.

Now, all these differences, which exist only as far as different ways of presenting the same truth separate them, are forgotten, as all FREE Christendom fights to preserve its own right to be called Christian and to free those bound to the pagan chariot wheels of the "would-be" world conqueror.

Our Union Jack is made up of crosses, so literally we fight under the banner of the cross. But among those who fight with us, there are those who are not Christian—Jews, Mohammedans, Buddhists, Brahmins — not followers of the cross and yet joining battle with those who fight for what it symbolizes.

Why? Because, though the followers of these other faiths refuse to accept Christianity, they know that the best things they have in life have come, not as an offshoot of their own religions, but as the fruit of Christianity. They know that where Germany has moved—there goes the nightmarish shadow of the gestapo, there goes the breaking up of the family, the persecution of Jews, the regimentation of children, the pagan belief that might is right and the insecurity of the individual.

They know, as we have learned, that the word of the Nazi is no more to be trusted than that of a maniac, and that love of country is only permissible to the Germans, whose country MUST and SHALL be—so they say—"uber alles."

And so, this 20th century crusade is on—not to conquer the Holy Land, but to make it possible for that faith which was born in the Holy Land to give to all peoples liberty—liberty of thought, of speech, of action, liberty to worship as seems best to each person, liberty to have a real family life—free from suspicion of one's nearest and dearest, liberty to educate individually, to read the newspapers one wants to, to see the shows one prefers and to live in peace and charity with all men, irrespective of race or creed.

Many creeds in time past, including Christianity, have been bigoted, narrow and intolerant, but Christianity had advanced to a higher plane and this war is teaching her followers to be more like their Master.

It is going down deep into the heart of individual Christians, making each one see just what he owes to his faith, and as each reacts to the call to service, so will we vindicate or lose our right to be called Christian.

The rights which accrue to us as members of a Christian civilization are the common cause which make all who fight for them of one brotherhood.

WHITCHURCH

SAY THEY'RE UNHAPPY OVER SNOW REMOVAL

Whitchurch township's $20,000 road program for 1941 has been given the O.K. by the Ontario department of highways, it was indicated at the April meeting of the council at Vandorf Saturday. The department pays one-half of the amount.

The members gave a cordial hearing to a deputation composed of the road boss, Sandy Davis, Cliff Lemon, Eugene Baker, and Eugene Lemon. They stated that in their opinion winter plowing was unsatisfactory in their division around Bloomington and the 9th concession.

"Some of our farmers are not just satisfied with the manner the road was kept open," said Mr. Davis.

Roads were closed for two weeks, he continued. Members of the deputation suggested that the township might consider buying a truck.

"Did you get satisfactory service before the last big storm?" asked Reeve Toole.

"No, we did not," said Mr. Baker.

The reeve said he appreciated the call from this deputation, and promised that the council would consider their suggestions before another winter comes around. He said the council was anxious to give every part of the township equal service, and promised to have cuts widened.

Road accounts passed for payment totalled $1,485, mostly for snow removal, repairs, and supplies.

The clerk reported that cost of roads to date was fully $1,000 less than last year at this date.

Relief for last month totalled $110, of which $12 was spent by Vaughan, chargeable to Whitchurch.

It was decided to place the accident insurance on township workmen with an English firm at a cost of $140. This protects the municipality against liability toward permanent and casual employees.

Reeve Stan. Osborne of East Gwillimbury called in and paid his respects to the members while in session.

Robert Windsor asked for instruction about relief and was told to continue on the job as relief officer for the east half of the township, as no change was immediately contemplated in the plan of having the constables take charge of this work.

General accounts included: S. Sheridan, moving family, $6; John Crawford, postage, $15.95; Woodstock hospital, 50 cents; Briarbush hospital, $6.50; Brookside Rest Home, $36; office supplies, $18.36; Tribune, printing, $109; Stouffville Floral, wreath, $10; Mountain Sanitarium, $9; Toronto General Hospital, $15; hospitalization for March, $75.47; F. C. Cummings, on salary as assessor, $150.

In an all-day battle on Sunday, British forces smashed and hurled back German panzer forces below Salonika, while Yugoslav troops in fierce guerrilla assaults took a heavy toll of the Germans south of Belgrade. PITY THE POOR CROW!

From Ottawa to Toronto is only 223 miles "as the crow flies."

But the crow, according to experts in Natural History, flies only thirty miles an hour. Even the swift carrier pigeon makes only forty miles an hour.

The telephone covers the distance — well, you might say, instantaneously. The sound of your voice, changed to electric waves, travels with the speed of light.

And it's the same between any two cities of the continent. Whether your message is to Halifax, to Vancouver, New York or San Francisco, the telephone makes possible an immense speeding up—distance is hardly a factor any more.

Whether for the great emergencies that war brings, or for every-day business, the telephone meets the need for quick completion of every detail.

POLICE COURT

COURT FINES BORDEN OFFICER FOR NO PERMIT

Appearing in Newmarket police court on Tuesday to answer charges of driving while intoxicated and of driving without due care and attention, Elias Smart, Newmarket, pleaded not guilty to both. Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe dismissed the first charge on the ground that there was insufficient proof that the defendant was intoxicated while driving the car at the time of the accident. On the second charge he fined the defendant $25 and costs or 30 days.

"On Saturday afternoon, March 29, at 2.45 p.m., as a result of information received, Constable Watt and I went to the corner of Niagara St. and Millard Ave. to investigate an accident," testified Chief Constable James Sloss. "I found a car owned by Smart parked on the east boulevard on Niagara St. facing north."

"What were the weather conditions?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C.

"It was a clear day and the pavement was dry," replied the officer.

The constable stated that the car was empty and that wheel-marks showed that it had gone some 28 feet along the boulevard before it came to rest with its two right wheels on the sidewalk. "There were marks on the road as if the car slewed around the corner. There was no indication that the brakes had been put on."

"What was the condition of the car?" asked the crown.

Chief Sloss stated that he and Constable Ronald Watt went to the home of Mr. Smart where they found him with two other men. They arrived there at about 2.50 p.m.

In answer to the question of the crown attorney, the officer stated that he found Mr. Smart in an intoxicated condition. He said that later in the police station the defendant admitted that he was the driver of the car.

"Did the accused give any explanation?" Mr. Mathews asked.

"He said that the tires blew out and that he was going ten or 15 miles an hour."

In his defence Mr. Smart stated that he had been working at the military camp and had offered to give Wm. Murdock, who was going to Toronto, a ride out to Yonge St. He said that as it was late he asked Mr. Murdock and another passenger, Herbert Tansley, to have dinner at his home. He said as he came around Millard Ave. the tire blew out. He denied having any liquor until he returned home, when he went down to the cellar and consumed a quart bottle of beer and "a couple of good swallows of wine."

"A quart of beer would not go to your head?" "Yes, it would," Mr. Smart answered. "I can't stand as much as I used to."

In answer to whether he was intoxicated when the police arrived the defendant stated that he "was feeling good." He said that he did not stop off at any place on Timothy St. on his way home.

Herbert Tansley, who lives east of Newmarket, and William Murdock, Toronto, told his worship that to their knowledge Mr. Smart had not been drinking. They saw him leave the room after they arrived at his house but did not see him consume any liquor. Mr. Tansley stated that they had been in Mr. Smart's house about 15 minutes when the police arrived.

"The evidence is that the accused was intoxicated when the officers arrived ten minutes after he got in his house," the crown explained to his worship. "He could not have gotten intoxicated in that short time. In view of the way the car slewed around the corner, it would not have happened if he were not intoxicated."

"Circumstances look suspicious, but there is no definite evidence that at the time he was driving the car he was intoxicated," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "I must therefore dismiss the charge of driving while intoxicated. But there will be a conviction on the charge of driving without due care and attention."

The case of W. E. Yake, Aurora, charged with theft of $35 and of selling a truck under false representation, the charges laid on complaint of Selby Fairbarn, Belhaven, was adjourned one week. The magistrate told the defendant to complete the sale of the truck as laid down in the contract between the two men, within the intervening time.

Mr. Fairbarn testified that he had a business deal with Mr. Yake whereby the latter was to sell him a truck. He said that he gave the defendant a $35 cheque and was to turn in his old truck, which was valued at $35, and that for the remaining $128 he had a sales agreement with Mr. Yake.

The witness stated that he had not as yet received the new truck and that he had a letter from a finance company in which they stated that the contract had been turned over to them.

In his defence Mr. Yake stated that it was necessary for him to recondition the truck before turning it over to the new owner. He said that it had been in a parking lot in Toronto where used cars were sold and that he had taken the complainant there to see the truck.

Upon cross-examination the defendant admitted that he did not own the truck at the time that he sold it to Mr. Fairbarn but had a payment of $5 on it. He said that he now owned it outright and that it was ready to turn over to the purchaser. Mr. Fairbarn told his worship that he was satisfied to take the truck and complete the transaction.

His worship fined Joseph Myers, Newmarket, $100 and costs or three months in jail, and Kenneth Bishop, also of Newmarket, $50 and costs or one month, for illegal possession of liquor. Both men pleaded guilty to the charges.

County Constable Watt testified that on Feb. 10 he stopped a car driven by Kenneth Bishop and owned by J. Myers, at the corner of Prospect and Huron Sts. In the car he found 15 cases of beer and four 40-ounce bottles of whiskey. He said that he turned the case over to Chief Constable James Sloss for investigation.

Crown Attorney Mathews interrupted to explain to his worship that Mr. Myers was on the interdicted list and that he had also been convicted before on a similar charge and fined $200.

Constable Sloss testified that he investigated through the liquor control board and received purchase slips in the name of Myers. He said that according to a statement given by Kenneth Bishop, Mr. Myers had given him $50 on the morning of Feb. 10 with which to purchase beer and liquor. He said Mr. Bishop also stated that he made four trips a week to the city and was paid $2 a trip.

Mr. Mathews told the magistrate that this was Mr. Bishop's first offence. The liquor was ordered confiscated.

Lieutenant F. C. Hunt, Camp Borden, and Kenneth Mainprize, Keswick, were each fined $10 and costs for not having 1941 operator's licenses. Provincial Constable Ronald Hewatt stated that he stopped Lieut. Hunt's car and asked to see his 1941 license.

"What explanation did he give?" asked Magistrate Woodliffe.

"He said that he hadn't had time to get one," replied the officer.

Morley Proctor, Kettleby, was fined $3 and costs for failing to produce his 1941 operator's license when Constable Watt asked to see it.

For not having their commercial vehicle permit when officers stopped their trucks, Nelson's Garage, Toronto, and Lloyd Brown, Schomberg, were each fined $10 and costs.

Because the brakes of their cars proved faulty when the officers checked them, Ivan Cairns, R.R. 2 Lloydtown, and Jack Mortson, Richmond Hill, were each fined $10 and costs or ten days.

A charge of theft against a 16-year-old Aurora youth was put on until April 22.

Gerald H. Anselmi and Melville Lecque, both of Huntsville and each charged with vagrancy when picked up in Aurora, were remanded for trial until next week. Each of the defendants was allowed $200 bail. Crown Attorney Mathews asked for the remand.

Mrs. E. N. Penrose, Second St., believes that her family presents something unique in that three sets of four generations of the family are living.

Mrs. Penrose, who is in her 78th year, has 25 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. One set of the four generations starts with Mrs. Penrose and goes down through to her daughter, Mrs. C. R. Londry (Gladys of Thornbury, then to Mrs. Arthur Sheridan (Alice) Newmarket, daughter of Mrs. Londry, and finally to Ray Sheridan, two-months-old son of Mrs. Sheridan.

The other two sets start with Mrs. Penrose, to her daughter, Mrs. Nella Henderson, then to Mrs. M. Stoddard (Margaret) and Mrs. G. Smith (Alice) both of Toronto, daughters of Mrs. Henderson, and thence to Murray Stoddard, 3, and Larry Smith, 8, sons of Mrs. Stoddard and Mrs. Smith respectively.

These three sets of four generations recently assembled in Newmarket and cemented the occasion by having a group picture taken. Mrs. Penrose thinks that Newmarket is a good place in which to live.

"I've travelled quite a lot but I always come back here," she declared.

EAST GWILLIMBURY

Power Maintainer For Roads Is Purchased

The regular monthly meeting of East Gwillimbury council was held at Sharon on Saturday, April 5.

A power maintainer was purchased at a cost of $6,925, equipped with 65 horsepower Diesel motor and hydraulic controls. After the department of highways had decided the amount of the grant they would give toward the maintainer, the council deemed it advisable to purchase the machine, as the roads could be maintained and the snow ploughed over a period of years much cheaper than it is now being done.

The council was requested by the department of lands and forests to co-operate with them in distributing forest trees among the school children of the township, and after contacting the children and parents, 3,000 trees have been ordered.

The contract for hauling gravel in the township has been let to Carman Rolling at .39 cents per yard.

Balance of the payment to the schools for 1940 was ordered, amounting to $9,764.

Accounts passed included: miscellaneous: Wm. Watson, transient relief, $2.50; E. Strasler and Son, funeral, $5; telephone accounts, $20.62; Jim The Druggist, drugs re indigent patient, $2; C. E. This Week's Contest May Be More Difficult But Not Hard If You Read Classifieds Carefully

Quite a number of people sent in answers to last week's classified ad contest and from among 22 submitting correct answers five lucky ones were drawn, who receive double passes to see "Gone With the Wind" at the Strand theatre next Monday or Tuesday.

Eleven sent in incorrect answers. The following, in order from one to ten, were the correct answers: domestic help, mixed grain, Katahdin potatoes, practical nurse, farm help, mohair Chesterfield, Marvelo, crisp carrots, mission table, gander. A number went wrong on the last one, which was a bit tricky.

Here are the names of this week's winners: Mrs. N. H. Lundy, Prospect Ave., Mrs. E. Faiers, Machell Ave., Aurora, Miss Ada McKinnon, Botsford St., Mrs. J. Williamson, Victoria St., and Mrs. J. E. Morris, Prospect Ave.

Their passes are waiting and may be picked up at the box office of the Strand any night.

Five more double passes are being offered to winners of this week's contest, so get busy and read the classified ads and send in your answer. Answers must be on the coupons and must reach The Era office by 9.30 a.m. next Tuesday morning. Winners will be announced in next week's paper.

The passes next week will be for either Tuesday, April 29, when "Buck Privates" and "When Ladies Meet" will be shown, or Friday, May 2, when "Texas Rangers Ride Again" and "Scattergood Baines" will be the features.

Now Read Carefully

Springtime is classified ad time. Why not make a little money by selling something that you had forgotten you had, but which perhaps is just what someone else is looking for? Era classifieds are a cheap and popular way to get in touch with reliable buyers and sellers. If you are looking for a new house or rooms, why not advertise? If you want to rent some rooms, put an ad in The Era. Many advertisers tell us of the satisfactory and quick results they get from Era ads.

This week one advertiser is selling riekwe shraei and another has a ocko esvto, while still another offers a ayre-dlo firehe. Someone is looking for a place to live with ekeigsuophen iileastfle and others want to sell potatoes, property and furniture. One advertiser has a nus-omor and one wants shawngi. A Snodrfo rctaofr is advertised, and another advertiser is looking for duees fxdroos. Rodyh is included in one ad this week and in still another scare occurs.

WANT-ADS

The rate for Want Ads is 25 cents for 25 words for one insertion; 40 cents for two insertions; 50 cents for three insertions. For over 25 words, each additional word, one insertion, one cent, additional insertions, one-half cent per insertion.

"Frequently, in the summer, court was in session from ten in the morning until noon, and from two in the afternoon until very late in the evening, to dispose of the week's cases on the one court day. I believe it will shortly be necessary for the court at Newmarket to be in session more than one day each week, at least during the summer."

AGRICULTURAL LEADER ADDRESSES YORK COUNTY FEDERATION

"The farmers are convinced that under present conditions they will come out a little worse off than they already are," declared R. J. Scott of Belgrave, president of the United Farmers Co-operative Co. and prominent agricultural leader, to the York county Federation of Agriculture at Richmond Hill on Wednesday of last week.

"A condition like that cannot produce a maximum war effort. There is no more patriotic person than the farmer, but what we want today is an all-Canadian brand of patriotism, with the farmer not being asked to produce under impossible conditions. This organization is not in politics, but we must remember the politicians have wrecked all the farm movements of the past. It is a pretty hard to keep out of politics when you keep asking for something and you don't get it.

"The farmers' organization has made bigger strides in the last six months than at any time in its entire history," he said.

Reeve James Rennie of Markham and his entire executive were returned to office. Secretary-treasurer Frank Ramsay of Sharon reported total receipts of $332.18 and disbursements of $142.90. A constitution was adopted.

DANCE NETS $120 FOR BRITISH FIRE-FIGHTERS

The Aurora fire brigade held a highly successful dance and euchre in Mechanics' hall last Thursday evening, the proceeds of $120 going to the British fire-fighters' fund.

Bill Hole's orchestra provided the music and firemen were present from many centres. Euchre winners were ladies, Mrs. V. Search and Mrs. W. Bunn; consolation, Evelyn Wathing; men, W. Bunn and H. Shirley; consolation, George Close.

HISTORIC BUGLE, GIVEN IN 1866 TO AURORA VOLUNTEERS, FOUND IN WEST, BROUGHT BACK

With the parade on Palm Sunday of C company of the Queen's York Rangers to Trinity Anglican church, some interesting history of the regiment and its predecessors, the 12th regiment and the York Volunteers, is recalled.

On Sept. 14, 1866, the 12th regiment, under the command of Lieut.-Col. W. D. Jarvis, was officially formed. Previous to this, from the war of 1812, separate companies of York Volunteers had taken part in every crisis in Canada's history.

The history of the Aurora Volunteers is a bit dim, but it is known that they did take part previous to the 60's. The Volunteers are mentioned in the minutes of the Aurora council as early as 1864. In that year they were granted permission to use certain timber, the property of the municipality, for the May 24 celebration, "the planks not to be cut or have nails driven into them and to be returned to the different places where they are at present by the 27th inst."

The commander of the company was Captain Ernest M. Peel, an English gentleman, descendant of Sir Robert Peel. Captain Peel, later Major Peel, lived on the Fleury farm, North Yonge St. He was at one time license inspector for the then village of Aurora. He it was who commanded the Aurora Volunteers in Fenian raid days. He is said to have lived in grand fashion and to have personally paid his men for parades.

The citizens of Aurora evidently felt proud of the Volunteers, for on April 7, 1866, it was recorded in the minutes of council that "a communication was read from Dr. W. B. Gelkie requesting the council to tender a vote of thanks to the Aurora Volunteers for the manner in which they responded to the call of their country and for their soldier-like bearing and conduct while on duty." The council was then composed of Seth Ashton, reeve, Joseph Fleury, James Andrews, Mathew Lepper and Dr. R. W. Hillary.

In July of 1866 a presentation of a bugle, fife, drums and flag was made by the citizens to the company. Inscribed on the bugle, which plays as well today as ever, are the words, "Presented to the Aurora Volunteers by the people of Aurora and the surrounding country as a small expression of their meritorious conduct during the recent trying crisis in the history of Canada."

One would judge that volunteer brigades came and vanished in those years for in October of the same year the citizens' committee appeared before council with the following resolution: "That in case the present Aurora Volunteers be disbanded, the bugle, banner, drums and fife now presented by the people be handed over to the reeve of the village for the time being, to be by him safely kept and delivered to the captain of the company of volunteers which may be reorganized in the village."

It was probably a wise resolution. The drums were shortly beaten out through wear and tear, the fife vanished, as did the bugle, but the flag fell into good hands and was carefully preserved. It was only in the 20's of this century that, through the energy of Major W. H. Taylor, Wellington St., the bugle was recovered in western Canada. Major Taylor presented the flag and the bugle to the regiment a few years ago, where they have a place of honor in the officers' mess. Memories of the Fenian raid, confederation and the northwest rebellion are mingled in the clarion tones of the silver instrument.

On May 10, 1872, the 12th regiment was changed to the 12th York Rangers regiment. On July 1, 1878, the county of York presented the colors to the regiment in a picturesque ceremony in the Aurora town park. Captain Dr. J. R. Strange, opponent of Sir William Mulock in politics, was head of the Aurora company at this time. Dr. Strange later became M.O. for the Toronto Garrison.

The historic colors were placed in Trinity Anglican church on May 27, 1914. The late Lieut.-Col. Arthur Nicol was the O.C. of the regiment at that time, while the adjutant was Captain F. H. Dunham, later Colonel Dunham, who now owns a farm on Yonge St. north of Newmarket. Captain W. H. Taylor was in command of the Aurora company. Church wardens were the late S. C. Taylor and W. H. Wright. Attending the ceremony were Mayor William Baldwin, and the following officers of the regiment, Lieut.-Col. A. G. Nicol, Major Coran, Major Gillies, Major Clark; Captains F. H. Dunham, T. G. McGonigle (chaplain), Coran, Towler, Fletcher, Brown and W. H. Taylor; Lieuts. J. H. Bennett, W. B. Sprinks, Puck, Lambert, Duggan and others. The flags have remained in the church ever since then.

On Sunday, June 19, 1932, Warden E. Milton Legge presented new colors to the regiment in the town park, Aurora.

NEARLY 200 DOZEN EGGS SENT TO ORPHANAGE

Aurora this year contributed 194 dozen eggs for the annual Easter present to the Loyal True Blue Orphanage at Elgin Mills, Major W. H. Taylor, veteran Orangeman and trustee of the orphanage for 18 years, told The Era.

MOVIES ON PARADE

By I. Seymour

SMALL CHANGE?— A MILLION

About five years of production, with a few million dollars, and several changes of directors, plus the number one publicity campaign the world has known, gave the movie-goers of this continent and the British Isles the longest picture ever made.

"Gone with the Wind," which is currently being shown at admission prices lower than those charged when the picture was road shown, made its return engagement on Atlanta Day (now an annual event on Dec. 12) in the city by that name, where it was viewed for the first time in December, 1939.

It is customary for studios to select a suitable city or town for a world premiere, but never in the history of the motion picture industry has such an ovation been given any film.

Hitler and his blitz do not keep British theatre-goers from seeing this picture either, for it is now being shown to capacity audiences in England.

We have seen this picture four times and know of several others who have seen it that many times and, like ourselves, express a desire to see it again.

This may sound fantastic to those who did not see this picture last year, but those who have will agree that it is not possible to see everything in this "super colossal epic" during the first viewing. If you intend to see this picture for the first time, we urge you to see it from the beginning. Those who are going back to see it again already know the reason why.

CAMERAS SHOOT RIFLES

Since the U.S. draft bill went into effect, some studios have been busily engaged in the production of army training films—the first two of which have been officially accepted by the war department a fortnight ago.

However, all producers have made elaborate plans for pictures geared to the times, with front page news as their background.

The first of these to be released is "Buck Privates," with an army camp background—a laugh riot if there ever was one, starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. You probably never heard of them unless you followed them from burlesque to Broadway and most recently to Hollywood, where they are scheduled to make a series of rib ticklers for Universal. Their second in this series will be "We're in the Navy Now."

Other films to be released soon, or which are in the production stage, in this cycle include pictures with titles such as "I Wanted Wings," "Dive Bomber," "Flight Patrol," "Parachute Battalion," "The Uniforms," "Navy Blues," and many others.

WORK FOR VICTORY

The motion picture industry, taking in everybody, stars, directors, producers, distributors, theatre owners and operators, have all done their bit towards the war effort. The first organized effort to sell war savings stamps was sponsored by the Canadian Motion Picture Pioneers. On July 15 of last year, 1,349 theatres from Halifax to Vancouver accepted only war savings stamps as admission fee, thereby contributing a sum reputed to run into the seven figure brackets. This could not have been accomplished without the 100 per cent voluntary co-operation of office and theatre employees, who gave their services in the same spirit as their employers gave their theatres.

This does not include the many benefit concerts staged across Canada with the proceeds going to British war relief and Canadian war services organizations.

The motion picture industry to the south of us has followed the lead of her great president and has set a pace hard to keep up with.

Over 7,600 theatres in the U.S. participated in the Greek relief drive—810 midnight shows and 20 stage shows. The biggest show took place in Radio City Music Hall, New York, the early part of this month and is second only to the mammoth open air show which took place at the Times Square Intersection at 46th St.

Many stars have dropped their work and headed for the nearest recruiting station. Others have given time and money in support of what they believed to be a just cause.

The latest to come to light is the announcement that Cary Grant's salary for his role in the George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart stage hit, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," to be produced shortly, will be turned over to the British war relief fund.

The employees of your local theatre are doing their bit the same as many other Canadians by buying war savings stamps regularly and they are always ready and eager to do more whenever called upon, even at personal sacrifice.

BIRTHDAY CLUB

(in co-operation with Strand theatre)

The new birthday club this week announces its first members and the winners of the first weekly contest.

The following boys and girls are winners of free admissions to the Strand theatre for this Saturday afternoon's show, and should be at the box office early: Doreen Ash, R.R. 1, Newmarket, Betty Squires, Peter White, Betty Lundy, all of Newmarket, and Ann Rowe, Queensville.

Other members of the birthday club who joined this week are: Jack Rush, Phillis Stickland and Ruth Keffer. All members of the club will receive birthday congratulations in The Era as their birthdays come around.

The new club has one member, Jack Rush, who had a birthday just this week, on Monday, April 14, and The Era extends to him hearty congratulations. He has the honor of being the first club member to be greeted in The Era.

THE CONTEST STORY

Sylvester took quite a time to unravel the jumbled message which he found in the purse, and when he had worked it out he snarled softly to himself.

"BUY WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES REGULARLY"

"That gives me an idea," he muttered. "I can send that message to my pal, Jittery Joe, in the same code. It will take a little time, though. Just let me think."

At that moment there was a queer groaning sound, which ended in a soft creak. Sylvester stiffened and the hair on the back of his neck bristled. Waiting tensely for a moment, he finally turned cautiously around, but could see no one. Then his blood froze as he felt something press softly against him in the semi-darkness. He was trying to summon courage to cry desperately for help when he heard an unmistakable "meow" at his feet. He suddenly realized that the intruder was the landlady's slinking black cat, which had pushed open the door with the creaky hinges and crept into the room.

"That certainly didn't do my shattered nerves any good," the sneak-thief whispered to the cat. "And now I must concentrate on this message to Joe."

Finally, after a lot of scribbling, he had completed the note. This is what he had written:

ETME EM TA ETH DSARNT TTEERAH

Sylvester slipped the note into an old purse and, opening the window, threw it with all his strength across the street to a window ledge, where he knew Jittery Joe would find it on his rounds the next morning.

Boys and girls, get your brains going and work out this puzzle. Five free admissions to the Strand matinee will be given away next week to five clever members of the club.

If there are more than five correct answers, five will be drawn. But even if you don't win, it's fun to work out the problem. And you can join the birthday club anyway and receive birthday congratulations in The Era without submitting an answer to the puzzle.

Answers to the contest must be made on the coupons, and you may get anyone else in the family to help you if you want to. Your coupon must, however, be signed by a parent or teacher to verify your age and birthday.

Answers must be at The Era office by 9.30 a.m., D.S.T., next Tuesday morning, and winners will be announced in next week's paper. Winners will go to the Strand theatre in good time for the matinee on the following Saturday, and will receive free admission on making themselves known at the box office.

The Saturday matinee includes the regular Friday-Saturday show plus two extra pictures (including the White Eagle serial).

DOWN THE CENTRE

Hail the Area three straight in junior C finals was a mighty fine effort and speaks well for the brand of hockey played in this neck of the woods. Four years and two titles and two finalists, Markham and Aurora both having two tries before making good. Markham, unlike almost every place we know, was morgue-like as usual. There was no fiesta or fires hastily built on the main stem. The villagers, however, are readying a big do for the boys and we expect to be present if all goes well.

Ike Harper and Coburn were both injured in the second game and their absence was felt in the final, which went into overtime. Ike got a stick in the eye, and infection has now set in. Coburn suffered a leg and shoulder injury as the result of boarding. In case you've wondered, Harper weighs exactly 239½ pounds, which stamps him as just about top weight in junior hockey.

Junior B winners, which will be either Brantford or Oshawa, presumably the former, have sent a challenge to Ernie Lawrie for a post-season series, and it looks as though the Markies will accept the challenge, although by the time the B series gets finished the boys, if they meet, will be running close to May day. The B teams have not been doing too well at the gates and need a bit of bolstering, but what attraction the proposed series would have seems hard to understand.

Too much hockey in the play-offs is the general cry rightly sounded on all sides and it is reflected in the gates. About time, methinks, that Bill Hewitt and the hockey moguls got wise that you can spoil even a good thing. Bob Lawrie, ace wingman of the champs, goes out by the age limit and is accepting a position in the post office department at Ottawa, where presumably he will also play hockey next winter. Brother Ernie, of course, works in the post office at Toronto and also lives there and has played with their T.H.L. entry in other years. Last year he had Bob Bangay and brother Bob playing mercantile, and they were dead on their feet in the play-offs. The sad mistake wasn't repeated this year. Joe Tunney, the old Aurora goaltender, is trying his hand at refereeing this year and is working minor T.H.L. games. Alf. Barber, who had a try-out with the local junior team, is also serving his apprenticeship. Both these boys should have a future in this field. They know the game thoroughly, and have the temperament necessary for good whistle-tooting.

Aurora bowlers are feeling the old itch in the palms these days and so on Monday next they are foregathering at the club house for the appointment of new officers and to do some spade-work on the greens.

King City will be back again in rural softball, which means that several boys who would fit in the local scene nicely will in all probability not be available. Of last year's team which went to the provincial semi-finals only George Davis is not available for action.

Diamond dimensions for this year have been changed a bit following the O.A.S.A. annual meeting at St. Catharines on Good Friday. The pitcher's box has been moved back two feet to make it 40 feet instead of 38, while the bases have been lengthened by five feet to make the distance 55 feet. It is to be presumed that the York-Simcoe league will follow suit when the president, Joe Spillette, decides to call the meeting, even tho' they are not affiliated with the provincial body. It would add some prestige to the league, and give the players a bit more to work for, to see the district winners (this year perhaps they'll officially declare one) go on into the Ontario playdowns, as they did formerly. Barrie, you will remember, did win a title but Newmarket were never very fortunate once they got out of their own group.

Pepper Martin is the only one of last year's Tigers to definitely wind up this season with an O.H.A. championship medal, Kingston taking the senior B honors, although due to university exams, the Pepper missed the last couple of games. Jim Lowe of course will also get one, as Brantford will undoubtedly take down the junior B series. Jimmy, contrary to expectations, has not yet got back into the game, altho' he may do so this week.

PEPPER AND SALT

By PEP

"Hot? Say brother if I had had a match in my pocket, my pants would have burned to a stitch," said one of the local "beat me brother with a solid four" boys when this reporter asked for an impression of the hockey club dance in the town hall on Monday night. He intimated that the reason he voiced this unusual string of words was because, what with the temperature and the moving about, he spent a very hot night of it at the town hall.

"Hot but enjoyable," he said. Well, there he hit the nail on the head. The hockey club dance was accounted a very enjoyable affair by all present. Proceeds of the dance and euchre will go to help reduce the deficit enjoyed by the Newmarket junior amateur hockey club this year. I say enjoyed because deficit and amateur hockey usually go together. Few amateur hockey clubs are money-making ventures, because it's the players and not the box office that benefit from the game, which is all for the best.

Markham Aces captured the Ontario Junior C crown by defeating Bolton in the finals last week. Considering that Newmarket gave the Aces a stiff tussle before dropping out of the North York group, it may be safe to say that the Redmen would have gone a long way down the play-off trail had not Markham been in the way. However, that may be like saying that by wearing sackcloth you might have become famous if Mahatma Gandhi had not been doing it before you.

Herb Cain, who finished a fair season of hockey by getting the headlines for a sensational play-off spurt, has so far had the honor of being on two Stanley cup teams. First time was with the Montreal Maroons and now with the Boston Bruins. Dit Clapper, also a Newmarket boy (although he was still wearing three-cornered pants when he left the town), has been on at least two and perhaps more Stanley cup winners. Larry Molyneaux played for the New York Rangers, the team that won the honors last year.

Considerable discussion is waxing and waning over the long N.H.L. play-offs held at the end of each hockey year. I think the squawk against the long play-offs is a good one. The boys play about four months of scheduled hockey and then spend practically another month to decide which is the best hockey team. And when six teams out of a seven-team league are allowed in the play-offs, many fans begin to wonder whether the play-offs are designed to decide a winner or to provide some extra gravy for the hockey industry. Right now, the latter seems to be, though it probably isn't, the case.

In U. S. baseball the winners of the National and American leagues play off. It seems to be a good system for baseball and it may be that something similar could be worked out in hockey; such as the first two teams playing off for the title.

A good sign from down south, where the Toronto Maple Leaf baseball club is in spring training, is the fact that the Leafs aren't winning too many before-the-schedule-opens games. Last spring, the Toronto team won practically all their pre-season tilts and then forgot the good habit when they hit pay-dirt ("pay-dirt" meaning the regular season, they never did hit real pay-dirt). This year, they are losing a few of the games that don't count and we may expect to see them win a few of those that do count.

The master-of-ceremonies was presented with a platinum tie-pin by his ever-loving colleagues on an anniversary of their radio program.

"Thanks for the platinum pin boys, but it says here on the back, 'nickel.'"

"Oh, that's only the price," was the reply.

Maple Hill

Men are working at the road all the time and they are much improved to what they were. So a good attendance is hoped for at the church services.

A gloom was cast over the neighborhood on Saturday evening owing to the sudden passing of Mrs. A. Knights, who, though not in good health for some time, took part in the prayer meeting every Thursday evening. It was a great shock to hear of her passing. Mr. Wesley Gillian spent the Easter weekend at his home in Markham.

KESWICK

SCHOOL YOUNGSTERS HELP WAR VICTIMS

The Junior Red Cross of Keswick public school is presenting two plays, "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Knave of Hearts," in the basement of the school on April 24 and 25. Seating has been rearranged in order that all may be assured of good seats. Reserved seats for both evenings may be secured from the plan at William Vail's store on presentation of tickets.

The proceeds are to be divided between the British War Victims' Fund and the Junior Red Cross.

It is hoped that all will support the children in their unselfish effort to aid those who are fighting in the front line in defence of liberty.

A Plunkett dinner will be served under the auspices of the United church Women's Association in the Sunday-school room on Thursday, May 1. Dinner will be followed by a good program.

KESWICK

Keswick Folk Attend Roche's Point Service

Keswick people in good numbers journeyed to Christ church, Roche's Point, for the Good Friday service. With the incumbent, Rev. A. J. Forte, in charge of the service, Rev. Gordon Lapp preached on "The Seven Words from the Cross." On the Thursday evening before Good Friday, a similar service was held in the United church here. With Mr. Lapp conducting the service, Mr. Forte preached on "These very stones would cry out."

On Easter Sunday the senior and junior choirs of the Keswick United church led the musical part of both morning and evening services. Miss Eva Gilroy led the choirs, with Miss Muriel Willoughby at the organ. One of the anthems was a translation from the fifteenth century French Easter carol, "O Sons and Daughters." The church was beautiful with lilies and other flowers. Mr. Lapp's morning subject was "Jesus, the Victor," and in the evening, in lieu of a sermon, he told an Easter story, "The Spirit of the Great Chief."

Mr. Gerald Pollock was at home for Easter Sunday.

At the morning service next Sunday, April 20, the choir will repeat, by request, the very tuneful new anthem, "Magdalene," which was so much enjoyed last Sunday. The minister's sermon for the morning service will be "Risen with Christ."

The Monday evening meeting of the Young People's Union will be in the charge of the missionary convenor, Ewart VanNorman.

The children of the village are having a busy and happy time with their preparations for the patriotic concert to be held in the public school the evenings of April 24 and 25. Proceeds are to be donated to the British War Victims' Fund and the Red Cross.

Misses Mary Jean Marritt, Shirley Pollock, Evelyn Connell, Marion Morton and Florence Walker, with Mrs. Gordon Lapp, will attend the Canadian Girls in Training conference in Toronto. De Luxe "Torpedo" Six Two-Door Sedan

"... In the first place, they don't build them any better than Pontiac. I work on all makes of cars—so believe me, I know! How can they build a car so fine yet price it with the lowest, is the one thing that has me guessing. Why I've got customers who used to spend two or three thousand dollars for their cars who tell me Pontiac's the finest car they've ever owned. They enthuse about Pontiac's famous L-Head Engine—say the car handles like a charm—that the Knee-Action ride is smooth as silk. And Concealed Running Boards are out of the way of mud and snow. QUEENSVILLE

Hibernating Groundhog Found, Becomes Pet

An item of interest comes to this correspondent's attention. About three weeks ago, David Miller, Second St., found, when moving a hen-house, a last year's groundhog rolled up in straw, sound asleep. Mr. Miller carefully removed it to the house beside the fire. In a day or so the animal awoke, to find new surroundings. It has been fed and now is quite tame, goes about like a pup and Mr. Miller can pet the animal, which seems to enjoy its new life.

Although Easter has passed for another year, Queensville United church will hold another special Easter service next Sunday morning. Rev. Hugh Shannon will give a special message and the choir will sing "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," by Dickinson. The ladies' quartette will sing, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," by Pears.
